Reconfiguring Gender:

Playing with feminist material possibilities in Early Childhood

Presenter: Professor JAYNE OSGOOD
London Metropolitan University

Date/time: Monday 23rd June, 2014. 4.30 – 5.30
Venue: DA03, UC College of Education campus, Dovedale Ave, CHCH

Hosted by Early Years Enquiry Research Hub (Director: Prof Judith Duncan)

Jayne is a sociologist of education focusing specifically on early childhood education and care. She is particularly concerned to research issues of inequality relating to gender, social class and ‘race’ and to critically deconstruct and problematise educational policy. As a feminist she is committed to developing and applying critical post-structuralist feminist theorisations to her work and regularly publishes in this area.

Jayne is co-editor (with Professor Ann Merete Otterstad, University College Oslo, Norway) of the Reconceptualising Educational Research Methodology (RERM) journal, and in 2012 published Narratives from the Nursery: Negotiating Professional and Identities in Early Childhood (Routledge).
